Description

Fire and Safety Australia now owns the National Safety Council of Australia (NSCA) brand to provide further National reach. With over 45 trainers covering every major capital city, the blend of the NSCA offering and the FSA training offering makes us your one stop shop for all your training needs. The combined FSA offering will incorporate 150 staff across every major capital city in Australia, further extending our capabilities to our National Clients.

Our teams are currently staffing Australia's two largest Gas Plants still under construction, keeping over 5000 people safe across the projects. Our current workload includes providing emergency response staff to Chevron and Inpex during construction and transition to Operating Gas Plants.

As specialists in 'tailored training', we currently tailor training courses for many large national clients including BHP Billiton, BMA Coal, Rio Tinto, XStrata, Cement Australia, Thiess, nbn Co, Bunnings, Inpex, Harvey Norman, Crown Casino, MCG and many many more. You can be assured that we can meet your national training requirements.

As an organisation with a commitment to improving safety at our clients work sites, we are able to provide Workplace Health and Safety Training in every major capital city including your workplace Health and Safety Representatives course.

We are experts in tailoring training to the requirements of our customers to ensure active learner engagement and 'hands on' practical training.
